Join Food Shift's Carrotmob!

Do you want Lafayette Whole Foods to donate their excess food rather than throw it away?

Here's how Carrotmob works: We suggested a Carrotmob idea because we want to use our purchasing power at Lafayette Whole Foods to get them to donate their excess food rather than throw it away. Food is too good to waste and too many people in our communities are hungry.

If 50 other people want the idea, Carrotmob will contact the business to try and turn it into a campaign. If the business agrees, we'll spend money to support them and in exchange they will take this action.

If you think we should use consumer power for good, click here to join the mob and start voting with your money.

Volunteer with us!

Have some skills you would like to contribute? We're always looking for passionate, creative people to join our team.
